1.2 Summary of the Action

The Action shall address high priority investment needs in the water and sanitation sector for refugees and the Ugandan population in North-Western Uganda and specifically the population of Arua city and surrounding refugee hosting districts in the follow up phases. Due to the effects of climate change in the form of more frequent and severe extreme weather events (droughts, rainstorms, floods), living conditions are deteriorating. This particularly affects water and sanitation infrastructure, which is already under massive pressure due to strong population growth and the sustained influx of refugees from the neighbouring countries. In addition, water resources are in danger of becoming polluted or drying up.
