1.2 Summary of the Action

The EU is recognised as a valuable, longstanding partner in the sector of good governance and rule of law. This action would further support the much-needed reforms as stipulated and committed by the new Government and the Supreme Court. Structured policy dialogue to advance the good governance agenda with the Philippines will continue through the relevant Partnership and Cooperation Agreement subcommittees. Also, via the provision of technical assistance, and through the proposed intervention on access to justice the EU will continue to participate in the definition of the policies that are currently being developed in particular in the Justice sector. The action will respond to the two main challenges the justice system in Philippines faces: the quality of justice and the barriers faced by less privileged parts of society to access justice. The action will consist of three components: 1. Support to Justice sector: justice coordination (headed by Supreme Court) through supporting coordination both at national level and local level. The focus will be in particular on promoting effective ‘justice zones’, where cities/local government and all relevant actors (e.g. judges, public prosecutor and public attorney’s offices, and the police, as well the Commission on Human Rights and civil society organisations) work together to improve criminal and civil justice provision. 2. Access to justice for all, through improved access to legal aid with a focus on women and people living in vulnerable situations (urban poor, farmer/fisherfolk and upland
